A Remarkable Circular. We have had returned to us from the country another copy of the circular "To the Tax-Payers and License-Tax Payers of Virginia," which has been so generously scattered over the State by holders of London, England." Judging from present appearances we shall soon have enough of these circulars to paper a small-sized room. The "magnanimous Council of Foreign Bondholders, of London, England," seem to have acted upon the principle of the inventor of the patent tick-exterminator, who claimed that no family (in the country) could afford to do without his compound, for the reason that if any family happened not to be afflicted with ticks it was the plain duty of some member of it to go chinquapin-hunting and accumulate a stock for his benefit. The circular of of London, England," is a curiosity. guide to tax-payers gotten up in that | patriot? unselfish spirit which has always characterized the foreign bondholders, it is as remarkable for what it does not contain as for what it does contain. As a specimen of benevolent coupon literature it is very incomplete. It gives no information about the protests against the payment of taxes in coupons which have been made by massmeetings of country people all over the State. It says nothing concerning the anti-coupon resolutions adopted by business organizations in some of our is as follows : " E. G. Jones, a travelling salesman tendered coupons for his license, which were refused. He then went on with his business without a license. The Auditor, Second Auditor, Treasurer, Secretary of the Commonwealth, Attorney-General, and Assistant Treasu-rer of the city of Richmond caused him to be arrested for selling goods without a license. The prosecution of Jones was promptly dismissed by the Hustings Court of the city of Richmond, and Jones at once sued all the parties implicated in his arrest for $100,000 damages for an unlawful and malicious His case will be tried in May or June, and he will be given large

The italics are ours. The paragraph suggests three questions :

Do the Council of Foreign Bondho'ders of London, England, claim to know the "unknowable"?

Have they been advised as to what the instructions of the judge will be in the case?

Do they mean to say that they are the keepers of the consciences of " the men who will be sworn to try the

In all seriousness we say that they must answer one of these questions in the affirmative, or the assurance contained in the words we have italicized is brutum fulmen. They are at liberty to choose which one they will answer, but what will the public think whatever may be their choice? If they chose the first they will render themselves ridiculous and will not be be lieved. If they chose either of the other two-well, touching that point comment is unnecessary.

A Greek Play

The "Acharnians" of ARISTO-PHANES was presented at the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, Friday night by students of the University of Pennsylvania, and the critics say that the performance was a complete success in every respect. The audience was brilliant and learned, and embraced a great many professors from other educational institutions. In the published list of the latter, however, we do not find the name of a single professor from an institution of learning situated south of the Potomac. It can hardly be that the leading Greek scholars of the South were not invited to witness the play. However, be that as it may, there is a valuable suggestion in the fact that the " Acharnians" was given with such success and attracted such a brilliant assemblage. Why do not the students in one of our Virginia institutions of learning ine to present a Greek play? A oe such as was given in Phil-Selphia Friday night and at Harvard a few years ago would not only impart rigorous impetus to the study of nen from all over the country wou known to the world what are doing in the way of higher education. The rendition of the play could, with proper management, be made the occasion for bringing the culture of Virginia and our southern sisters into contact with the culture of the North. The experience of the Univer-sities of Pennsylvania and of Harvard shows that the northern professors would not need much urging to be present. Let southern professors and southern students consider the matter.

The citizens of Chicago whose pro perty was destroyed by the mob have put in petitions for reimbursement from the city treasury, and the matter is referred to the Judiciary Committee of the Aldermen to see whether the city is liable. It is probable that if Chicago has to foot a big bill for damages the authorities, not only of that city but of other large cities, will recognize the wisdom of taking time by the forelock in dealing with Anarchists.

We learn that several of the suits brought in the Hustings Court of this city to compel the Commonwealth to receive coupons for taxes have been dismissed at the instance of the plaintiffs. That does not look as if the "coupon boom" was on the increase.

The members were slow in arriving yesterday morning. When, at 9 A. M., the gavel in the hands of Bishop Granbery called the Conference to order very few delegates were in their seats. Rev. M. S. The regular order, by consent, was ostponed to hear the address of the fraternal messenger of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church in America. Dr. Wiley, of the Committee on Introduction, brought on the stand Rev. R. C. Phillips (colored), who was by the Chair introduced to the Conference.

Mr. Phillips delivered his message from manuscript held in his hand. The address was well worded and well de livered. Some of the phrases and sen-tences of the address are likely to be remembered-for instance: "Memory is a lubricating juice"; "It is said that a woman's tongue is a sword that is not allowed to rust for lack of use."

CORRESPONDENCE WITH PREACH ERS.

A resolution was passed reprobating any action on the part of churches, through their lay officials or others, negotiating or corresponding with preachers with respect to their appointments, so as to subvert or interfere with the appointing power of the bishops.

CONFERENCE PAPERS. Dr. Haygood, of Georgia, presented a resolution requesting the delegations of Conferences having Conference organs (newspapers) to report the same to this Conference with the names of the editors chosen for the same by the Annual Conferences.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Revisals. BUSINESS FAILURES.

A resolution was presented requiring churches and pastors to make inquiry into any business failures of a member of the church and to enforce the Discipline against persons guilty of fraudu-lent transactions. Referred to the Committee on Revisals.

THE PUBLISHING HOUSE. A resolution was offered declaring the sense of the Conference to be that in conducting the business of the publishing house the utmost impartiality should be observed.

Dr. Whitehead declared that the resolutions were not intended to reflect pon any one, but a case had occurred during the past quadrennium which made it necessary that this body should give some expression on this subject. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Publishing Interests.

CHANGE OF NAME. A resolution from the Western Vir ginia delegation authorizing the Conference to vote on changing the name of the Conference to "West Virginia Conference" was presented and re-

The Arkansas delegation presented a resolution authorizing the Book Agent and the Book Committee to consider the expediency of publishing a tri-weekly or semi-weekly Advocate, and that they deem such a publication advisable they be authorized to begin such publication at any time they may choose. The resolution was read, and, on motion, was laid on the table.

It also recommends that the editor of the Advocate be authorized to draw on the Book Agent for a sum not exceeding $2,500, to be expended by him in paying for accepted articles from chosen writers on special subjects. The report was laid on the table and ordered to be printed. MR. BRIGGS. Rev. William Briggs, the fraternal messenger of the Canada Conference, was here brought on the stand by Bishop Keene, who stated that Dr. Briggs was before the Conference to take leave of the body.

Mr. Briggs said he was somewhat like a fellow-countryman of his who, having lived some time in America, was asked to what country he belonged, and responded, "I was born in Ireland, but I have lived long enough in America to become a native." Said the gentleman, I am so well pleased with my surroundings that I am persuaded that if should stay a little longer I should feel like a native." [Laughter.]

Mr. Briggs expressed himself as de lighted with his visit to his brethren of the South, but, knowing the value of time to a Conference, he would not extend his remarks lest he should meet the definition given by John Walker of a preacher-"One who harangues teously in discourse." Bishop Hargrove replied : "We have heard with much pleasure of the pro-gress of Methodism in your country, and we shall remember with exceeding pleasure the high compliment you have paid our Church, and will also remember you; and should you decide to most hearty welcome.'
